RESILIENCE CAPITAL PARTNERS LAUNCHES
THE RESILIENCE BENCHMARK™

CLEVELAND, OH – January 7, 2010 – Resilience Capital Partners (www.resiliencecapital.com), a Cleveland-based private equity firm released publicly, for the first time, the on-line Resilience Benchmark software.

“The Resilience Benchmark is an internal tool we have used since we founded the firm to assist us in identifying areas for operational performance improvement and the direct immediate opportunities available to improve profitability and more importantly viability. By comparing companies to their competitors in various industry sectors, we are able to identify the business potential and in turn the resiliency of a company in both good and bad economic cycles. As corporate recovery investors it helps us single out companies to invest in yet irrespective of a potential investment from Resilience every company should know how they measure up these days” said Steven Rosen, Co-CEO of Resilience Capital.

The Resilience Benchmark™ compares key performance metrics and practices for companies within and across many industries. The benchmarking process identifies the best practices in very narrowly defined industry niches in relation to a company’s products and processes, both within an industry and outside it, with the object of using this as a guide and reference point for improving the practices of one's own organization.

Doug Campbell from the Resilience Capital Operation Group commented on how his firm sees the benchmarking tool as a “unique and powerful resource for managing our portfolio of businesses. As a firm we have always seen value and benefited from benchmarking the businesses in the current Resilience portfolio and throughout the due diligence phase of the investment process.”
