With a leading market share in many of its 20 product categories, and revenues exceeding $130 million, Lund represents one of the largest independent platforms in the automotive aftermarket industry. The Lund brand name along with AVS/AutoVentshade, Deflecta-Shield, Nifty and Belmor are some of the most recognized in the industry.

According to Gregg Taber, principal of Linsalata Capital Partners, the Lund acquisition represents an opportunity for LinCap to leverage its past experience and proven track record of success in the automotive aftermarket sector. “Lund has developed a leading market position and broad product offering that provide a foundation for growth going forward,” said Taber. “The company is recognized by its customers for strong service and proven brands; we look forward to working with the company to accelerate the development of innovative products to solidify its leadership in the industry.”

LinCap and Resilience will bring additional management to the business as well as industry veterans to the new Board of Directors to drive the business going forward. Bassem Mansour, managing partner of Resilience Capital Partners, said, “We recognized the strength of the Lund brands early on and viewed this acquisition as an opportunity to reinvigorate a business with a solid market position. With the additional resources this transaction brings to the business, we believe there is a great deal of opportunity to accelerate growth, improve operations and re-establish expansion through add-on acquisitions,” said Mansour.
